Hi Team,

I hope you are doing well. I am a customer of Bewakoof.com, and during my manual testing practice, I found a bug on your website.

In the Women's section, the offers displayed are related to Men's products, which is not appropriate for that category. Users who visit the Women's section expect to see women-specific offers, and showing men-related offers can create confusion and affect the browsing experience. This seems like a category-mapping issue, and fixing it will help improve accuracy and user experience on the platform.

I have attached a document with the detailed bug information for your reference.

Kindly look into this issue and resolve it.

Thank you,

Mohammed Suhail A
